

The use of disposable plastic & paper bags needs to be reduced to protect our environment.

I would propose that grocery stores (maybe all stores) be required to either charge for bags or give a small discount (1 or 1/2 %) on purchase when customers bring their own bags. Aldi is quite successful charging for bags with vast majority of customers bring their own renewal bags. The giving 5 cents by some stores for each bag a customer brings doesn't work well as policy is often not posted & doesn't work on self serve lines.

My preference would be the small discount because it would be easier to implement especially at self serve lines (a single point on touch screen saying you brought your own bags).

An incentive is needed.
